Glyn Hughes has led IATA Cargo's initiatives, embracing industry management and relationship building, including being part of the Global Air Cargo Advisory Group steering committee. He has led a campaign to promote the value of air cargo, and is taking a principal role in the IATA team working to modernize the cargo agency program.

As air cargo faces considerable challenges, Glyn and his team are dedicated to improving the industry's competitiveness through a cut in end-to-end shipping times of up to 48 hours as well as delivering the industry priorities of safety, security, quality, modernization and transformation through the e-cargo agenda.

Glyn Hughes – IATA Global Head of Cargo
- 10:00 The Future of Logistics – Will Your Business be Disrupted by Innovation and Technology Change?
The world is being reshaped and redesigned by the internet, technology, innovation and fundamental changes to the way people connect and do business. Anyone who has watched Google reshape advertising, Apple reshape the mobile phone, Uber reshape the taxi industry or AirBNB reshape accommodation will be keenly aware that Amazon (and others) are also trying to reshape the world of logistics. In these disruptive models there are always winners and losers. Do nothing or make the wrong choices – risk your business, get it right and surf a new wave of growth.

Richard White – WiseTech Global CEO
