9.30am-10.15am	Opening Keynote Address Navigating 2025 - Trade Uncertainty and the New Rules of Resilience Peter Creeden , MPC International PTY Ltd, Sydney, Australia  In 2025, trade certainty is dead, and political uncertainty is becoming the norm. For New Zealand's freight community, resilience now demands more than managing risk. It requires developing skilled people, building smarter systems, and fostering deeper industry collaboration. Global pressure on capacity and ESG compliance is accelerating the need for digital maturity and sustainable practices. The future will favour those who invest in capability, connectivity, and accountability. I want to challenge all of us to lead with clarity, adapt with confidence, and shape a more intelligent, coordinated logistics ecosystem for the decade ahead. We need to make NZ Inc not just reactive, but strong, strategic, and adaptable.

CBAFF 2025 CONFERENCE PROGRAMME

Wednesday 3 September 2025

1.00pm-2.00pm	Carriers Panel This panel brings together leaders from the world's major carriers—COSCO, CMA/CGM, MSC and NPD L for a candid conversation about the state of global shipping. We'll discuss capacity, service reliability, port congestion, and how regional dynamics are shaping global strategy. With supply chains still recovering and realigning, this session offers direct insights from the bridge of international trade. Panel Facilitator: Simon Dedman, Managing Director, Kuehne &amp; Nagel Mark Scott, General Manager, COSCO SHIPPING Lines (New Zealand) Ltd Gary Carter, General Manager, CMA CGM Group Agencies (NZ) Ltd Simon Edwards, General Manager Liner, NPD L Shipping Leonard Bentley, Managing Director NZ, Mediterranean Shipping Company
2.10pm-3.10pm	Port to Port Panel Join representatives from Ports of Auckland, Napier, Tauranga, and Lyttelton for an in-depth discussion on the current state and future direction of New Zealand's port network. This session will explore key issues including infrastructure investment, congestion management, and intermodal connectivity all critical to meeting trade demands, enhancing resilience, and supporting national logistics strategies. Adding an international perspective, the Port of Philadelphia will offer a comparative view on these shared challenges and opportunities, providing a broader context on how global port strategies intersect with local ambitions. Panel Facilitator: Lincoln Hollis, Operations Manager, Hillebrand Gori Adam Harvey, Chief Operating Officer, Napier Port Tessa Auelua, General Manager Containers &amp; Engineering, Port of Auckland Sean Bradley, Group Manager, Inland Ports and Supply Chain, Lyttelton Port Company Blair Hamill, General Manager Commercial, Port of Tauranga
3.20pm-3.50pm	Afternoon Tea and Industry Exhibition

Wednesday 3 September 2025

3.50pm-4.20pm	Showcase Presentation - Seaglidors &amp; the Future of Coastal Freight A game-changing innovation in freight transport is on the horizon. Ocean Flyer is set to introduce fully electric seaglidors to New Zealand's coastal routes, unlocking a new era of zero-emission, high-speed freight movement. This presentation will showcase how seaglidors offer an unprecedented opportunity to move cargo smarter, faster, and cleaner, especially along key domestic coastal corridors. Operating at speeds of up to 300 knots per hour, these seaglidors combine the efficiency of marine access with the speed of aviation, flying just metres above the water. Unlike airports, which are often on the city outskirts, seaglidors use existing harbour infrastructure, placing freight right where it needs to be, in the heart of our CBDs and regional centres. Ocean Flyer will walk us through, from 2022 and beyond, the operational model and expected cargo capability, infrastructure and safety considerations for port access, how this technology aligns with ESG and decarbonisation goals, opportunities for regional connectivity and agile, just-in-time logistics. This is more than a transport innovation, it's a bold step toward the future of low-impact, high-performance coastal freight. Be among the first to see how New Zealand is positioned to lead the way. Introduced by: Simon Dedman, Managing Director, Kuehne &amp; Nagel Shah Aslam, CEO, Ocean Flyer John Hamilton, Operations Director, Ocean Flyer
4.20pm-5.20pm	Infrastructure: Connecting the Dots Panel Efficient freight movement relies on a well-connected, multi-modal network supported by the right enablers, technology, policy, and engagement. With a government inquiry now underway into the New Zealand maritime industry, this session takes on added relevance. KiwiRail, National Road Carriers, NZ Transporting, and Port Connect come together to explore how infrastructure planning and key enablers are shaping a more sustainable and resilient freight system. From carriers to ports, and road to rail, we'll examine the challenges, opportunities, and long-term strategies needed to strengthen New Zealand's supply chain and keep it moving. Panel Facilitator: Peter Creeden, MPC International PTY Ltd Dan Cowie, General Manager, PortConnect Alan Piper, Executive General Manager Freight Markets, KiwiRail Justin Tighe-Umbers, Chief Executive Officer, National Road Carriers Billy Clemens, Head of Policy and Advocacy, Transporting New Zealand
5.20pm-5.30pm	Close of Day One
From 1800	Free Evening to enjoy Napier's Art Deco, Ocean Views &amp; Local Cuisine
